We believe it is vital that all of our residents have access to quality housing options and we recognise the importance of having the right mix of housing options within the District. We know that housing is expensive across the District and we want to be active in helping to provide different options for our residents and at the same time ensuring we increase the supply and quality of housing that we control.

High Street, Winchester

High quality housing and a properly operating housing market are vitally important and contribute to social, environmental and economic sustainability. It is, however, clear that the market alone will not fully meet Winchester's housing needs and this threatens sustainability. There is, therefore, a need for intervention if we are to ensure people have the homes they need.

However, we want to do more than provide housing solutions for individuals. We want to create cohesive communities where households of differing sizes, ages, incomes and interests enjoy living together and sharing what Winchester has to offer. Communities that support each other, accept each other and contribute towards Winchester's success.

Since the previous Housing Strategy the following significant outcomes have been achieved:

- Over 400 new affordable homes provided
- Council home building programme launched, with over 100 homes on site
- Innovative extra care development in progress
- Regional design award for Westman Road scheme
- New Queens Head nominated for national design award
- All Winchester City Council housing stock meets Decent homes standard
- Gold Standard award for the Housing Options Team
- An active estate improvement programme providing local solutions and well received by local residents
- Action taken on all empty properties within the district under the Empty Property Strategy
- Stock condition survey of private housing informing the Private Sector Housing Strategy
- An Asset Management Strategy developed in consultation with stakeholders
- 91% Tenant Satisfaction in 2017
- Introduction of a 'City Lets' scheme helping people in housing need to find accommodation in the private rented sector
- Assisting tenants downsize to smaller homes.

The Winchester District Housing Strategy Priorities

1. To accelerate and to maximise the supply of high quality affordable housing across the District.
2. To improve the housing circumstances of vulnerable and excluded households.
3. Supporting local people accessing high quality and affordable housing which meet their needs.
4. To make best use of housing.
5. To engage with residents and create cohesive communities.

Despite these successes and the relative affluence and general economic prosperity of the District, the area still faces very real housing challenges. Economic prosperity should mean that everyone should have access to decent housing, a good quality of life and a fulfilling job. Sadly, not every member of the community has these things. Homeless and vulnerable households suffer the most as a consequence. There is a proven link between housing and health and wellbeing and we hear from our colleagues in Citizens Advice that people are approaching them in significant numbers with these problems. Together with our partners in the statutory health and social care services, and those in the voluntary sector, we must tackle these problems.

Affordability of housing is the most significant concern. Over recent years a broader cross section of society has become affected by the problems of unaffordability. Many households are unable to afford suitable accommodation, including some working in lower paid jobs in health and social care, education, leisure and hospitality sectors. Not only does this impact on the health and happiness of individuals, but through its effect on the local economy, local services and transport, it impacts on the health and happiness of everyone in the District.

Households who would not traditionally have sought affordable housing are unable to access market housing and we must ensure that we meet a range of needs at a range of affordability levels that reflects the requirements of our communities. The problem of affordability must be tackled if we are to make sure that everyone in the District has the opportunity for a good quality of life now and in the future.

It is not only affordability we need to tackle, we have many other challenges. We need to plan for the 12,500 homes due to be built by 2031, both in new and existing communities. We need to plan to provide support when and where it is most effective for our vulnerable and disadvantaged residents. We need to plan to make the best use of the housing we already have.

This new strategy sets out the Council's strategic housing priorities for the next five years. It has been developed taking account of the evidence and through talking to those involved in local housing matters and to Winchester's communities. It complements the Winchester District Development Framework which provides a framework and policy context within which new development can take place.

The Council has announced a multi-million pound programme of new Council house building to complement new homes provided by Registered Providers. Investors are keen to invest in the District and we have a strong relationship with partners and communities that will help deliver this Strategy's ambitions. We are well placed to take up a leadership role in supporting our communities to plan for change for the better.

1. Introduction

Winchester District is a large and varied District which encompasses a prosperous and historic county town and a flourishing business district at Whiteley. Surrounding these urban centres are many miles of unspoilt countryside, including parts of the South Downs National Park, punctuated by busy market towns and villages.

Although the District's population is around 122,000 people (just over 50,000 households), the wider market area's population is over 1.3 million. Its housing markets are diverse, with a well integrated sub-regional market in the south of the District, closely aligned to the South Hampshire urban areas, and several more localised markets around Winchester Town and the market towns and rural parts of the District.

These markets are characterised by good quality housing but very high housing costs, creating affordability problems for many households. This impacts on the health and wellbeing of individuals, the sustainability of communities and affects the ability of the economy to change and grow. Inadequate housing impacts on economic prosperity and threatens the sustainability of local services.

It is important, therefore, to have adequate available sites for development and new homes that are affordable so that housing need does not outstrip housing supply.

However, meeting housing needs goes beyond building more homes. Building cohesive communities must also be a priority. In order to create such cohesion, it is important that support is provided to meet the needs of the most vulnerable and disadvantaged members of our community. What and how new housing and housing services are provided will be fundamental to building communities and ensuring we have a strong and sustainable economy.

Everyone in the District, no matter who they are or where they live, must have the opportunity to enjoy a good quality of life now and in the future.

The 2017 White Paper "Fixing our broken housing market" recognises the difficulties created by Britain's poorly performing housing market. It aims to make housing more affordable and to provide security for households, seeing the construction of homes as the starting point. It wishes to see the creation of a housing market that is as fair for those who don't own their own homes as it is for those that do. This is a vision that resonates with ours and that we endorse.

In particular we support the encouragement for councils to build more homes and the ambition to tackle affordability by helping households priced out of the market. We also support the emphasis given to homes for rent, both in terms of providing more across sectors and ensuring that the right safeguards are in place to provide security for tenants, together with the desire to prevent homelessness.

It is of critical importance that the Government provides us with the tools to allow us to realise these ambitions and appreciates that the diversity of the housing markets across Britain means that a one size fits all approach is not the solution. Local problems and solutions must be identified locally. We are well placed to understand the challenges we have and to foster existing, and create new, relationships and partnerships to tackle them. This Strategy will act as the springboard.

2. Delivering the Housing Strategy

The Housing Strategy sets out strategic objectives to achieve its vision. It takes its lead from the Council Strategy and compliments other council strategies and policies.

The planning process directs and controls the delivery of new homes. The Housing Strategy has a particularly close relationship with the Council's Local Plan which expresses the strategy for development and the use of land across the District. The Local Plan contains detailed land use policies related to the scale, location and nature of new housing for all of Winchester's communities.

There are two local planning authorities for the District, Winchester City Council and the South Downs National Park Authority. Ultimately both will have adopted development plans that will contain policies relating to affordable housing provision. Winchester's Local Plans Part 1 and 2 have both been adopted, South Downs' plan is currently being amended following consultation last year and the pre-submission version is due to be published in 2017. Therefore, at present, Winchester Local Plan Part 1 (but not Part 2) policies, along with the same policies from Winchester's 2006 Local Plan Review apply across the South Downs National Park area.

The Housing Strategy has a specific focus on a narrower range of communities than local plans, focusing on those who are unable to exercise a reasonable degree of choice about their housing circumstances. For instance, those unable to afford market housing, those needing care and support and those who may be living in inadequate accommodation. It is not a land use planning document and does not duplicate the strategies and policies of the Local Plan, though it will be a material consideration in planning decisions.

Development of new homes is just one of the matters that the Housing Strategy considers. It also sets out objectives on a range of housing issues unrelated to planning or development.

Housing Strategy Primary Focus – those who are unable to exercise a reasonable degree of choice about their housing circumstances.

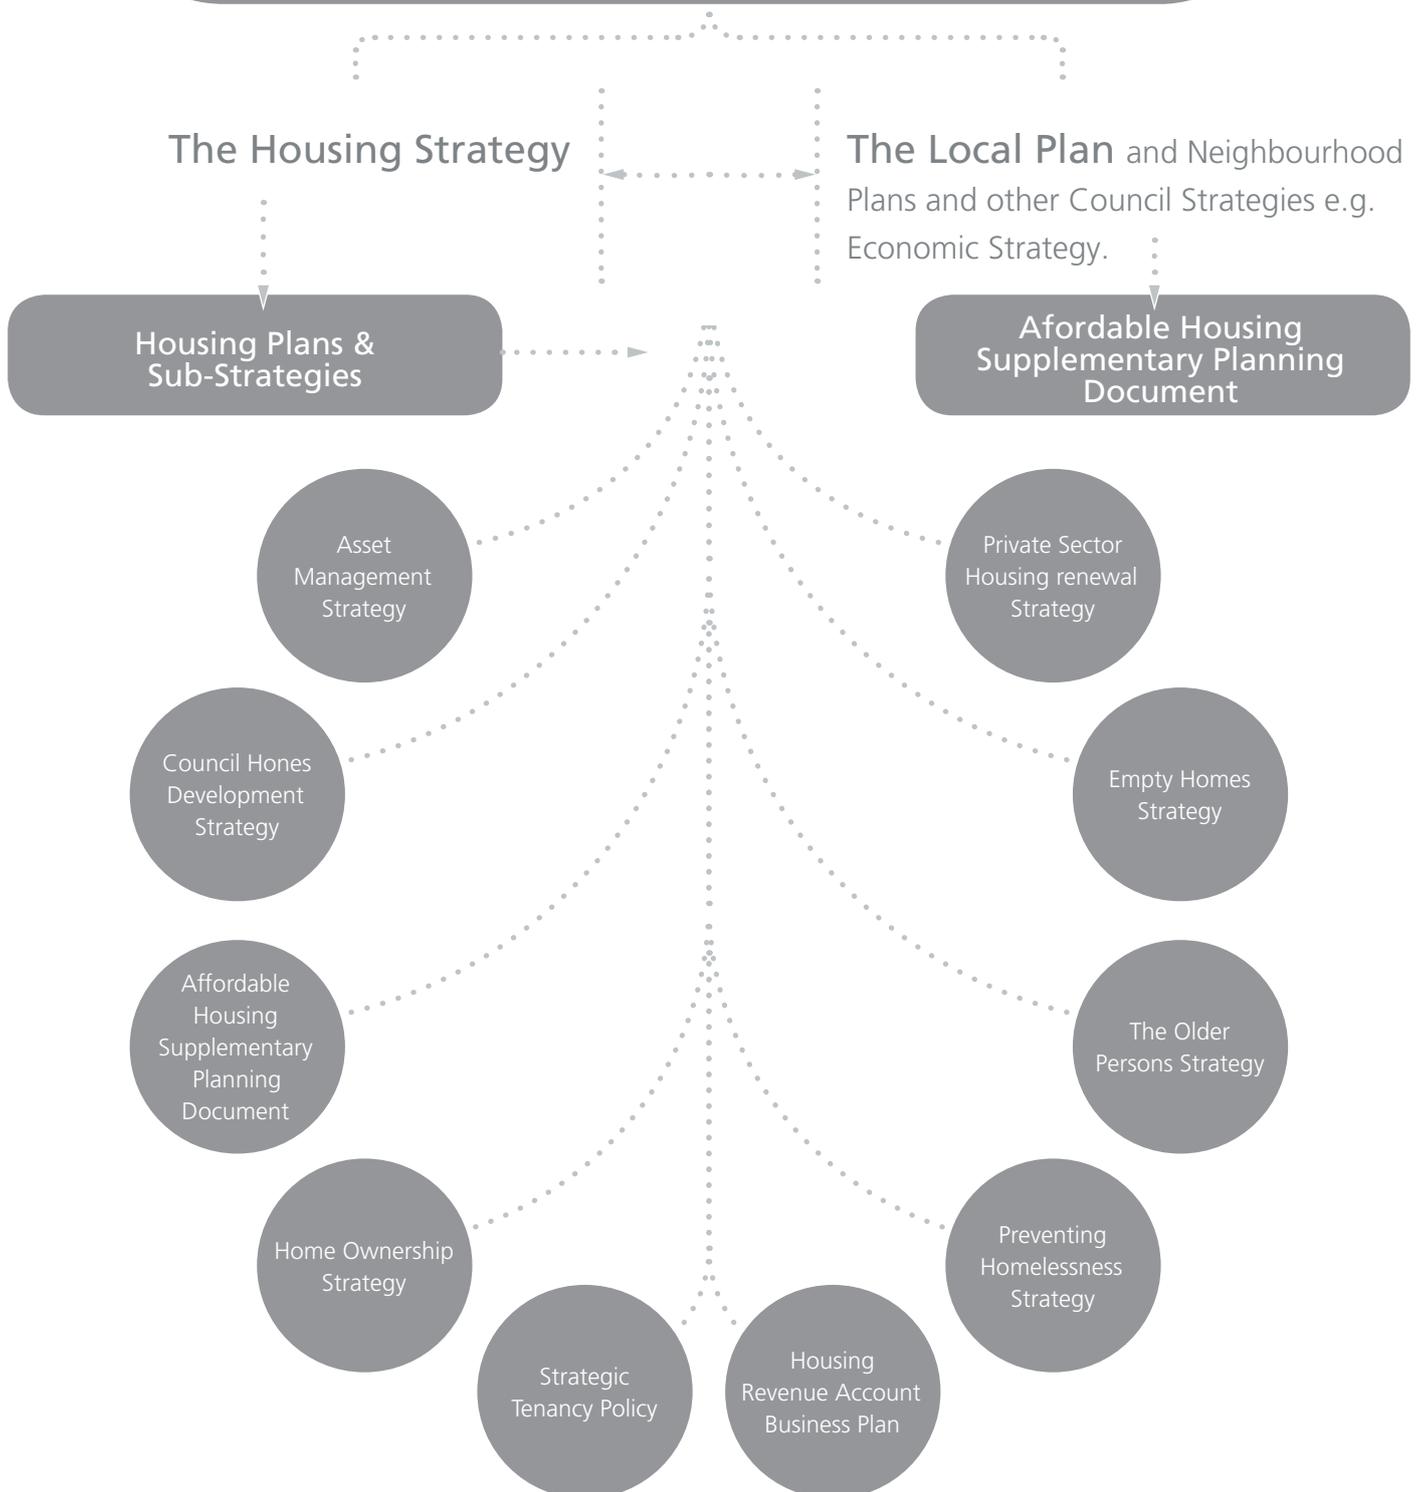

The objectives of the Strategy are high level and a series of more detailed plans will be developed to deliver the objectives. These include the Housing Revenue Account (HRA) Business Plan, Older Persons Strategy and the Preventing Homelessness Strategy. Progress of these actions will be regularly monitored, with the Council and Assistant Director (Chief Housing Officer) taking the lead and taking responsibility for responding to changing circumstances.

The Council Strategy

The Council Strategy strategic outcomes:

- Delivering an entrepreneurial approach to efficient public services
  - Winchester District will be a premier business location
  - Delivering quality housing options
- Improve the health and happiness of our community
  - Improving the quality of the District's environment

The Strategy will be implemented through the actions and investment of Winchester City Council along with a range of stakeholders in the public, private and voluntary sectors, and through a number of partnerships, such as Hampshire Alliance for Rural Affordable Housing (HARAH) and the Partnership for Urban South Hampshire (PUSH); although it's recognised that some partnership arrangements may alter during the life of the strategy as a consequence of devolution. Relationships with communities will be key to understanding and meeting needs.

The principal route for investment will be from the Council's HRA. We will work with Government to secure further resources for the HRA through raising or removing the debt and will create a specialist vehicle to create investment capacity outside the HRA.

We will also aim to secure resources for the District through Government's specialised funds such as those related to community housing, self/custom build, infrastructure funding and homelessness prevention.

Inward investment by others will be important means of achieving objectives, including private sector investment, for instance housebuilders and institutional investors, registered providers and the Homes and Communities Agency (HCA), particularly through their Affordable Housing Programme, as well as targeted initiatives. We will work closely with the HCA to secure funding for the Council and support others in their bids. The voluntary sector will be of critical importance to achieving ambitions, utilising their expertise and energy, as well as financial resources.

3. The Challenges

There are many challenges that face Winchester’s housing market. Some of these are new challenges; some are becoming more serious as a result of inadequate attention in the past and changes in circumstances.

Winchester has a buoyant housing market and is an attractive place to invest for developers, owners and renters. The Local Plan creates a positive planning environment for that investment while planning to ensure local needs are met.

The benefits of a buoyant housing market are not, however, shared equally across our communities. Housing costs, homelessness, the needs of elderly and vulnerable households are amongst challenges that are faced. Many members of our community are unable to exercise a reasonable degree of choice about their housing circumstances and intervention is needed to support these individuals and to support Winchester to achieve its ambitions.

This section expands on the key challenges and considerations which impact on achieving the above primary focus as follows:

- Housing affordability
- Welfare Reform
- Local Plan provisions
- Inadequate housing options
- Matching supply and demand
- Meeting the needs of all household types
- Stock Condition & Energy Efficiency

Housing affordability

Housing affordability is the most significant challenge faced and the need for affordable housing is high. In recent years affordability has become an issue for a broader cross section of society and many households are unable to exercise a reasonable degree of choice about the type or location of their home. This means newly forming and existing households are unable to afford suitable accommodation, including some working within lower paid jobs in health and social care, education, leisure and hospitality sectors. Households who would not traditionally have sought affordable housing are increasingly unable to access market housing. This impacts on individuals, the economy, the environment and wider society.

As in other parts of Hampshire, competition for homes continues to be high. However, a good transport network, in-migration of families from higher value areas who often have significant purchasing power and large numbers of students fuel local demand and drive up values. A consequence of this can be that local people are forced to move outside the District, away from employment opportunities and social networks. Alternatively, those who remain in the District are made to live in unsuitable housing conditions because they need to stay close to education or employment opportunities.

Average District property prices are around £500,000. A household income in excess of £60,000 pa is required to buy an entry level home whilst the figure stands at £30,000 pa for the private rental market. The household incomes of those securing shared ownership properties are typically in the region of £30,000 pa, many of those being small households. With average household incomes of a two adult household little over £20,000 pa, and a family little over £30,000 pa the affordability problem becomes evident.

New homes normally attract a premium over second hand resales. This can be sufficient to erode the benefits of discounts or incentives delivered through initiatives such as Starter Homes meaning that such products may do little to improve affordability in the market, unless they deliver additional homes rather than substitute for alternative tenures.

Affordability can be particularly challenging for rural residents with residents often committing higher proportions of their incomes to housing costs. Resultantly, rural communities can become less diverse as younger people leave and older, wealthier, households arrive which can in turn have a negative impact on local businesses and services. New rural homes, such as those delivered through the Hampshire Alliance for Rural Affordable Housing (HARAH), help meet specific rural needs. Newer initiatives, such as community led housing, also have the potential to do the same in both urban and rural areas.

Particular problems exist for young newly forming households, with over 70% of new households unable to rent in the open market. Demand is high for rental properties from a range of sectors, including students, those requiring benefit support, relocating families and younger people at the start of their careers. Certain areas have high concentrations of privately rented student accommodation and houses in multiple occupation. This can affect the characteristics of those areas and impact on the supply of housing for other sectors of the community. Alongside mainstream provision, there is a need to look at innovative housing solutions for younger people, including shared housing and co-living models. A range of needs must be met, including the needs of young workers and also the most vulnerable members of our community.

The affordability of Affordable Rents presents challenges. Homes provided at Affordable Rent levels provide income for reinvestment in new affordable homes. Yet, if rents are set too high the properties become unaffordable. Applying a common measure of affordability, no more than 33% of gross household income spent on housing, reveals that an 80% Affordable Rent, and sometimes rents at Local Housing Allowance levels, are unaffordable for much of the target market.

Of course, it is not just rents that impact on affordability. Other costs such as energy, water and repairs all can have significant impacts. A significant proportion of housing debt related enquires to Citizens Advice relate to these issues, with high proportion of those enquiries relating to private rented sector homes.

While homes for Affordable Rent are of the highest priority, in order to meet other needs and create cohesive communities it is important to recognise the challenges faced by those unlikely to secure such a home or who wish to access intermediate or low cost home ownership homes, for instance shared ownership or other parts of the rented sector.

Welfare Reform

Welfare reform is impacting on the affordability of homes and the type of homes demanded. The Social Sector Size Criteria is meaning that smaller homes are demanded in the affordable rented sector. Local Housing Allowances, Benefit Cap, restrictions to allowances at two dependants and Universal Credit entitlement levels impact on a range of households ability to afford to live in the District;

Single claimants – Under recent policy changes single applicants aged under 35 (without children) are restricted in relation to how much housing benefit they are eligible for. Under the new measures single applicants under 35 year old applicants (without children) will only be eligible for Local Housing Allowance rates for shared accommodation. This means that such applicants are not eligible for Local Housing Allowances rates of one, two, three or four bedroom properties. This is likely to lead to an increased demand for shared accommodation within a house or flat. Further proposed changes to entitlements for 18–21 year olds are likely to further diminish viable housing options and result in hidden youth homelessness.

Claimants with a Disability – The most vulnerable in our area reliant on disability benefits have been affected by welfare reform, including a reduction in Employment and Support Allowance (ESA) with the abolition of the work related element and in most cases, are not exempt from the social sector size criteria which may affect their ability to meet rental costs for properties not specifically designed for purpose.

Families – Due to rental levels and caps most existing 'out of work' tenants reliant on Housing Benefit who have more than three children will now be affected by the Benefit Cap which is applied to Housing Benefit. For new tenants/claimants Housing Benefit allowances are now restricted to two children, should the family have a third child their benefits will not increase. This means those housed/re-housed in larger properties to meet the needs of their household will not see an increase in Housing Benefit to cover the higher rent.

Local Plan Provisions

There are two local planning authorities for the District, Winchester City Council and the South Downs National Park Authority. Ultimately both will have adopted development plans that will contain policies relating to affordable housing provision.

Winchester's Local Plans Part 1 and 2 have both been adopted, South Downs pre-submission plan is due to be published in 2017.

At present Winchester City Council's Local Plan 1 and the saved policies from the WCC Local Plan Review 2006, are considered when making planning decisions on individual proposals. WCC Local Plan 2 policies do not however apply to the SDNPA area. Currently, Winchester's Affordable Housing Supplementary Planning document applies across the whole District at present.

Winchester District Local Plan (Parts 1 and 2) make provision for about 12,500 new homes (2011 to 2031). The latest forecasts suggest that population of the district is set to grow by over 12,000 between 2017 and 2031 alone. New homes are needed to accommodate such population growth with the Local Plan serving as a mechanism which plans for the implementation of these new homes, by establishing a development strategy and specifically allocating sites for development. Dwellings will be provided on a range of sites across the District, from single dwellings to much larger strategic provisions of several thousand homes at Waterlooville, Whiteley and Winchester Town where substantial new neighbourhoods are planned.

Many of these homes will be provided for owner occupation, although in recent years the private rented sector has become increasingly important. The provision of affordable housing as part of this overall supply is critical and Local Plan policies, supported by Local Plan 2 policies, enable its provision. Priority is given to homes for Affordable Rent, with support being given for other affordable tenures such as those for low cost home ownership. Rural affordable housing provision, housing for private rent and specialist housing, for instance for those with additional support needs, is also supported.

Until very recently new affordable housing has been provided, in the main, by housing associations or similar organisations. The Council now has a very active building programme to ensure greater supply of affordable housing.

The Council's Self and Custom Build Register currently has over 100 individuals and associations registered indicating demand for these type of plots.

Winchester District Local Plan Part 1

Joint Core Strategy (adopted 2013)

Selected and summarised spatial planning strategy and objectives

- Residential development should meet a range of community housing needs and deliver a wide choice of homes, with priority given to maximising the provision of affordable housing.
- The provision of 12,500 new homes across the District by 2031, to include:
  - New neighbourhoods in Winchester Town at Barton Farm (2000 homes), and in the South Hampshire Urban Area at Waterlooville (3000 homes) and Whitely (3500 homes), and;
  - Further housing to meet the needs of the Winchester Town, the Market Towns and Rural Area.
- Development should provide a range of housing types, tenures and sizes and include market homes for sale, affordable homes, and homes attractive to the private rented sector.
- Specialist forms of accommodation, such as extra care housing for older persons, and homes for those with disabilities and support needs should be provided.
- Most new homes should be two and three bed houses.

Disabled adaptations

The review of the Council's Local Plan will commence in 2018. This will include a review of policies relating to land supply, housing numbers and affordable housing policies.

Since the Local Plan Part 1 was adopted in 2013 there have been changes in the local housing markets, partly as a consequence of economic factors, impacting on house prices and investor decisions, and partly as a result of Government policies and strategies, such as welfare reform, the National Planning Policy Framework and the 2017 White Paper Fixing our broken housing market.

Despite these changes the Local Plan policies remain sound, providing certainty and direction, while allowing changing circumstances to be taken into account. The same is true of the Affordable Housing Supplementary Planning Document (which will be reviewed in 2017). Supported by the positive planning environment in Winchester, with Planning and Housing Teams working closely together, the policies continue to be successfully applied despite changing circumstances. Examples of this have been the switch in emphasis to 1 and 2 bedroom affordable accommodation, away from 2 and 3 bedroom homes, the approach taken to permitting low cost home ownership dwellings as part of rural exception sites and broadening the types of affordable tenure offered, for instance rent to buy and discounted market sale.

Always at the heart of these decisions has been the need to achieve local priorities, making sure that the type, affordability and tenure of affordable housing provided meets priority local needs. This approach will continue ahead of the review of planning policies and this Housing Strategy will be a material consideration in planning decisions.

The Local Plan review provides the opportunity to reconsider the approach we are taking. Changes signalled at national level suggest a broadening of the affordable housing offer and begin to outline new methodologies for assessing housing need. The review process will need to ensure that new requirements are complied with and opportunities taken.

In order to achieve this Strategy's vision of creating cohesive communities and ensuring everyone has a choice of high quality housing to meet their needs we support this broadening of the offer. As noted in the Foreword and Introduction to this document, intervention is needed by the Council to ensure the interpretation of national ambitions reflect local circumstances so those that who are the primary focus of this Strategy (those who are unable to exercise a reasonable degree of choice about their housing circumstances) are supported.

The approach adopted in this Strategy and which will be developed and taken forward in the Local Plan review is, and will be, based on sound local evidence and on locally agreed priorities.

The Local Plan review (due to commence 2018) will ensure that robust planning policies are developed that maximise affordable housing provision, and that the right type, tenure, size and quality of housing is developed to meet local needs. Ahead of the revision of the Local Plan a revised Affordable Housing Supplementary Planning Document will be produced to add more detail on implementing current Local Plan policies. Priorities in the Housing Strategy will be used to influence the evolution of planning policies in the South Down's National Park.

Inadequate housing options

Inadequate housing options represent a threat to economic prosperity. Commercial and residential development need to be mutually supportive as the housing market impacts on economic performance. While the attractiveness of the area is a driver of attracting higher paid and higher skilled workers, affordability can impact on businesses deciding to locate or stay.

Homes are needed that encourage the wealth creators to locate and stay in the District. It is also important to ensure those active in the local economy, be it in the commercial world or providing services, can live in the District. This often means lower value homes for younger people seeking employment for the first time or perhaps entrepreneurs considering starting up their own business.

Retail and hospitality economies are supported by the resident student population. However, those in lower paid jobs have particular difficulty in accessing the local housing market with consequent impacts on the economy and on transport and the environment due to resultant commuting patterns.

The two universities are of vital importance to Winchester through the contribution they make to the local economy, culture and vibrancy. They do, however, bring their own pressures to the local housing market. There are around 2,500 student beds across the town area ranging from purpose built student accommodation to shared accommodation in converted houses. Pressures are felt most strongly in Stanmore where family housing has been lost to such shared accommodation.

Stanmore, an area of predominantly family or shared housing

Matching Supply and Demand

Providing the right type of housing – matching demand with meeting peoples’ needs. Around 67% of homes are in owner occupation, with a roughly equal split of affordable and private rented homes. There was a downward trend in owner occupation between the last two Censuses.

The southern part of the District lies within a well integrated sub-regional housing market that extends east to west. The central and northern parts of the District contain a number of more fragmented local housing markets.

Currently, most households are aged over 30 and the District has a relatively high proportion of one and two person households, which is somewhat influenced by the presence of two universities and the type of households living in the town area. There is an increasing population of elderly people (including those over the age 80 years who are more likely to have support needs).

There are more family type households in the housing market areas outside the town, particularly in the southern sub-regional market.

The population is projected to increase by approximately 11,000 people between 2017 and 2022 with the age profile remaining broadly similar.

It is important to note that a high proportion of one and two person households does not directly translate into an identical demand for one and two bedroom homes, as people tend to consume as much housing as they can afford. Affordable housing allocation policies and welfare provisions mean there is a much closer correlation between household and property size in the affordable and private rented sectors.

Migration is a key determinant of population change with central and southern Hampshire, together with London being common sources of migrants. The relatively high levels of in-migrants between the ages of 25–44 years are notable. This may be a result of families with school age children making lifestyle choices and moving out of higher priced areas into the District. Their equity and purchasing ability can impact on the local market and contribute to the gentrification of some areas creating inflationary pressures. This can have adverse effects on local communities, making it hard for local households to compete in the housing market.

A significant proportion of the population is aged over 60 and a generational divide in wealth is impacting on the nature of housing demand in two principal ways: parents downsizing to unlock equity to assist children’s’ housing costs, and a demand from younger people for rented properties. This approach has an added advantage of creating churn in the housing stock, releasing (sometimes a chain) of homes for new occupation.

In order to ensure most effective use of housing stock and to match supply and demand, many affordable housing providers already offer fixed term tenancies. As part of the Housing and Planning Bill 2015/16 new provisions were made that will prevent Local Authorities in England from offering secure tenancies for life in most circumstances. Fixed term tenancies are regarded as being the main tenure type for social housing in the future.

In order to meet local housing needs effectively, and to design sustainably, new homes must be fit for purpose. Local Plan 1 policies aim to ensure a significant supply of two and three bedroom houses to reflect local demand. In the affordable sector, there has been a trend towards providing one and two bedroom properties alongside family homes as a consequence of welfare reform.

Local Plan 2 requires new affordable homes to be built to the Nationally Described Space Standards to ensure dwelling design reflects intended occupancy level, and to high standards of accessibility and adaptability (Building Regulations Part M4 Category 2 standards apply to new affordable housing) to reflect the needs of all members of the community, including older persons and those with disabilities.

Meeting the needs of all household types

While the problem of access to suitable housing is common across this District, it is vulnerable and disadvantaged households who are most adversely affected. Welfare reform (see above) will particularly impact on such households.

The needs of younger people has been highlighted earlier in this document. The changing demographics of the area mean meeting the needs of older persons will become increasingly important. There has been a significant growth in those aged over 80 years in recent years. Although the needs of older people can often be met in their existing homes or by moving to more suitable mainstream housing in some cases, particularly as vulnerability increases, more specialised accommodation such as extra care is required. It is an objective of this Housing Strategy to review the current Older Person's Housing Strategy. A detailed scoping of the range of issues to be considered will be done as part of that review. Issues are likely to include the demand for extra care and the desire for and opportunities created by downsizing.

As noted above in the context of owner occupied housing, the churn in the housing stock that such moves create can assist others finding suitable homes. It is important to remember that a mix of people, housing types, sizes and tenures are ingredients of a cohesive community and that by ignoring such factors an exclusive community can be created which can undermine the aim of creating inclusiveness.

People with disabilities are a significant group within the District's population with some of these households having specific housing requirements, including those relating to mobility. Disability is often linked to age and therefore levels of disability are likely to increase as the population ages. As outlined above, welfare reform has implications for some people with a disability.

While supported housing of various forms is provided across the District the lack of move-on accommodation hampers its effective use and means households are unable to access accommodation they need. Furthermore, there needs to be greater co-ordination between agencies groups involved in supported housing provision.

Recent years have seen the needs of the most vulnerable groups increasing; in particular the homeless, rough sleepers and individuals with complex needs, such as mental health and substance dependency. While numbers are relatively low their needs are severe.

Specific needs have also been identified for gypsy and travellers and travelling show people, where inadequate provision is currently made to meet their needs. These needs will be met through the planning system. The Government has issued draft planning guidance on the assessment of needs for caravans and houseboats. This will be picked up as required as part of the Local Plan review.

Stock Condition and Energy Efficiency

The District's housing stock is generally very good, across all sectors. Homes are predominantly of post Second World War construction. Council and other affordable housing has achieved the Decent Home Standard. It is important to ensure that Council homes, and those owned by registered providers are maintained to high standards.

In the private rented sector homes are generally of a good standard, and programmes of accreditation operated by the Council have helped ensure high management standards. There are high levels of houses in multiple occupation in the Winchester Town area, due to a significant extent to students.

Owner occupied homes are also generally of a high standard. There are, however, instances of poor property energy efficiency in some types of housing, for instance those without mains gas in rural areas, and fuel poverty for some low income households.

Most private rented sector properties are owned by landlords with modest property portfolios. However, there are examples of larger scale landlords, both in the student and general private rented sector. Some privately owned properties have the poorest energy efficiency. Newer affordable housing has been built to higher standards which benefits the household as well as the environment. The Local Plan sets ambitious low carbon policies for all new homes.

5. Monitoring and Review

Some of the objectives and actions in this Strategy are short term and will be achieved quickly. Others will take many years to realise. It is important to be aware that there are many influences that mean the needs of our communities will change over time. The Housing Strategy must respond to these changing needs.

There are current uncertainties arising from the implications around the exit from the European Union and the degree to which this will have consequences for the local economy and for the local housing market. The provision of new housing has a role to play in not only provided much needed homes, but boosting local economies. Construction not only creates jobs for those directly involved in building but provides a stimulus for associated trades and professions, as well as homes for those who can spend and work to support the local economy. The links between housing and local economic growth ambitions must be closer than ever in the future, and must include links with Local Economic Partnerships and to Government initiatives aimed at stimulating growth.

Providing housing is about much more than putting a roof over someone's head. It is central to individuals' health and wellbeing and it will be important to develop stronger links in this area.

Government borrowing and spending is under continual pressure. The welfare system has undergone radical change and this continues.

However, emerging Government policy around housing clearly sets a long term priority to increase house building through accelerated construction investment. We must capitalise on the opportunities to influence the use of affordable housing and the ability to build Council Homes. Winchester City Council has a significant leadership role to play in helping communities shape their future.

The Housing Strategy will be kept under review so that it is responsive to the changing world, changing local needs and changing ambitions and so it creates a framework to ensure change in Winchester is for the better.
